DETAILED ACTION

Response to Arguments

1. Applicant's arguments have been considered but are moot in view of the new ground(s) of rejection.
2. The indicated allowability of claims 45 and 53 is withdrawn in view of the reference(s) to Marotta et al. 6,261,305. Rejections based on the cited reference(s) follow.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

3. The following is a quotation of the first paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall contain a written description of the invention, and of the manner and process of making and using it, in such full, clear, concise, and exact terms as to enable any person skilled in the art to which it pertains, or with which it is most nearly connected, to make and use the same and shall set forth the best mode contemplated by the inventor of carrying out his invention.

4. Claims 17, 19, 39-46, 57-62 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, first paragraph, as failing to comply with the enablement requirement. The claim(s) contains subject matter which was not described in the specification in such a way as to enable one skilled in the art to which it pertains, or with which it is most nearly connected, to make and/or use the invention. The claims recite "the single balloon extending within the stent wall from a proximal end to a distal end of the stent body," the specification discloses the balloon extending out from the stent wall at two ends and the balloon. The specification does not disclose the balloon within the stent wall from a proximal to a distal end of the stent body.

5. The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

6. Claim 57-60 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention. Claim 57 recites "self expandable structures" but activated by expansion of the elongate body portion of the balloon. It is unclear to examiner that the structures are self-expandable or not since the claims clearly claim that the structures are activated by a balloon to be expanded radially.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

7. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

8. Claims 17, 19, 39-56, 61-62 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Marotta et al. (6,261,305). Marotta et al. disclose a system comprising:

A balloon catheter (55) having a bulge region (the region extending through the opening 135, see figs. 2-4), a stent (105) including a leaf portion including a plurality of movable members (426, 427, 428, fig. 23) wherein moving members are characterized as being self-expandable or balloon expandable since the leaf portion including movable members inherently expanding outwardly as the device in position as disclosed in figures 2-3 and the leaf portion is further expanded by the expansion of the balloon as shown in fig. 4.

Inherently, as the balloon expanded, the portion of the balloon 55 extending through the opening 135 (see figs. 2-4) is thinner (because of the stretching) than the rest of the balloon (55), which remains within the stent wall.

The bulge region is positioned on an exterior surface of the body region between the proximal and the distal ends of the body region.
